INTRODUCTION

This marking scheme was used by WJEC for the 2022 examination. It was finalised after detailed discussion at examiners' conferences by all the examiners involved in the assessment. The conference was held shortly after the paper was taken so that reference could be made to the full range of candidates' responses, with photocopied scripts forming the basis of discussion. The aim of the conference was to ensure that the marking scheme was interpreted and applied in the same way by all examiners.

It is hoped that this information will be of assistance to centres but it is recognised at the same time that, without the benefit of participation in the examiners' conference, teachers may have different views on certain matters of detail or interpretation.

WJEC regrets that it cannot enter into any discussion or correspondence about this marking scheme.

SUMMER 2022 MARK SCHEME

COMPONENT 1: SPEAKING (60 MARKS)

Principles of Marking

Conduct of the Speaking assessment

Examiners are required to familiarise themselves with section 3.2 of the specification.

General Advice for Visiting Examiners

You are asked to read and digest thoroughly all the information in the stationery pack. Particular attention should be paid to the following instructions regarding marking:

- as an examiner you must be positive in your approach. Look for opportunities to reward rather than penalise. Candidates who use strategies such as adjusting the message, circumlocution, self-correction or repair strategies should not be penalised

- Task 1: Independent research project – make sure you are familiar with the assessment grids for the independent research project

- Task 2: Themed card – make sure that you are familiar with the assessment grids for marking the stimulus card and that you consider the marks and descriptors carefully when awarding a mark for each assessment objective.

Timings for each section of the assessment must be adhered to. Any speaking evidence which exceeds these timings will not be credited.

If a candidate's speaking assessment falls short of the stipulated timings, the candidate may self-penalise as it is likely that there will not be enough speaking evidence to access the full mark range.

Examiners are reminded that the gender of a candidate is immaterial to the assessment. If a candidate chooses to identify as a gender different to that of their birth gender, then, like all candidates, they would gain credit for their consistent gender agreement and pronoun usage in the assessed language.

The two theme-based stimulus cards must be presented to the candidate using the grid which will be provided by WJEC Eduqas each year. The candidate must choose which of the two cards they wish to prepare for Task 2.

An example of a grid appears on the following page. You must ensure that the candidate is offered the two cards listed according to the order of their candidate numbers. Should the card be on the same theme as chosen for the independent study, the original card should be replaced with the next card in the pack. Should there be more than 24 candidates in a centre, start the card grid order from the beginning. Each candidate must be presented with the correct two cards irrespective of the order in which they are examined.

Applying banded mark schemes (Speaking)

Banded mark schemes are divided so that each band has descriptors for the performance level of that band.

Stage 1 – Deciding on the band

When deciding on a band for each assessment objective, the assessment should be viewed holistically. Beginning at the lowest band, you should look at the descriptors for that band and see if they match the qualities shown in the candidate's response. If the descriptors at the lowest band are evidenced, you should move up to the next band and repeat this process for each band until the descriptors match the response.

If a candidate's assessment covers different aspects of different bands within the mark scheme, a 'best fit' approach should be adopted to decide on the band. For instance if the response is mainly in band 2 but with a limited amount of band 3 content, the mark awarded would be close to the top of band 2 as a result of the band 3 content. Small omissions in some parts of their response may not negatively affect the mark awarded.

Stage 2 – Deciding on the mark

Once the band has been decided, you can then assign a mark. WJEC will provide standardising material to be used as reference material throughout the assessment period.

When marking, you can use this material to decide whether a candidate's response is of a superior, inferior or comparable standard to the examples provided. You are reminded of the need to revisit the standardising material as you apply the mark scheme in order to confirm that the band and the mark allocated are appropriate to the response given.

When you are marking the candidate's responses to the stimulus card you should consider the indicative content given for each card. However, you must bear in mind that the indicative content is not exhaustive and is for guidance only. Reward all valid responses.

The indicative content is given on each of the stimulus cards to assist with marking.
