Source AThe Freedom of the Media

Following the Leveson Report 2012 into phone tapping by newspapers, concerns were raised over the freedom of the media to intrude into people's personal lives.

During the 2016 US Presidential election, similar concerns were raised about social media. According to Stanford University, 60% of American adults got their news about the election from social media. Social media was used to share 40 million fake news stories during the election.

This situation has led some people to question whether democracy is undermined by too much media freedom.

Referring to Source A, discuss two reasons why restricting the freedom of the media could strengthen democracy.

Source CThe Commonwealth

The strengths of the Commonwealth, which make it an important international organisation, allow it to help its member countries tackle the problems they face.

The Commonwealth helps its member countries develop projects to tackle the effect of climate change. These projects often use green technology to promote more sustainable ways of living.

The Commonwealth also helps its member countries build more harmonious and cohesive communities and to create strategies to tackle the underlying causes of extremism.

With reference to Source C discuss two strengths of the Commonwealth which allow it to help its member countries tackle the problems they face.

Source DDiffering legal systems

In the fictional country of Eastland judges are elected by the citizens, who must be 21 or over to vote. All citizens are expected to vote in all elections. If a citizen does not vote they will be fined £1000.

Judges hear cases in court. For serious crimes, such as murder, they will decide both the guilt of the accused and the sentence to be passed if the accused is found guilty.

Using Source D, discuss two reasons why the UK legal system is different to the legal system in Eastland.
